Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 12 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dull at first, turning brighter but windy later.

Today:
A grey and damp start, much brighter in the south by mid-morning and across the whole country by lunchtime. Mild but turning windy with gales along western coasts. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy, breezy and wet overnight for most, rain may turn heavy at times. Possible drier and clearer across the northwest by morning. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Monday:
Largely cloudy with outbreaks of rain throughout the day, perhaps more persistent and heavy across southwestern areas. Mild. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mostly cloudy and on the mild side throughout the week. Mostly dry too but patchy rain is possible on Tuesday into Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.